The image shows a page of graph paper from a voting record book. The page is ruled with a grid of small squares. At the top, there are 29 numbered columns, from 20 to 48. The grid contains very faint, illegible markings that appear to be handwritten or stamped text, possibly representing names or numbers. A prominent diagonal line is drawn across the page, starting from the left edge and extending towards the right. The paper is aged and shows some wear and tear, particularly along the right edge where it is bound.

The page contains a large grid of graph paper. The grid is composed of small squares, with a larger square formed by four smaller squares in the center. The grid is mostly blank, with some very faint, illegible markings scattered throughout, possibly bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The markings are most visible in the lower half of the page.
